Holy Cross Brothers

Our jubilarians,
Chosen by God
As desirable seeds of worth
To grow in holiness
And wonderment
To bring the Good News
Decade after decade
For the discernment
Of all in Holy Cross
And then outward,
Encompassing all God's people
Who need your Love,
Gracious, patient, endearing,
We salute you.

We, who couldn't bloom
Without your nurturing,
Now pause
In jubilation
To hail all the colorful blooms
Each of you has brought
To vibrant life,
Directing us away from strife
To enter the cool, calm garden
Where blossoms glow
In springtime wonder,
Grow in summering warmth,
Ripen in autumnal harvest,
Consumed in restful wintery white
By us.

To each jubilarian
For tending our new Eden Garden,
Preparing us for heavenly bliss,
Evangelist John says this:
You did not choose Me,
No, I chose you
To go forth and bear fruit,
Fruit that will last,
So that the Father
Will give you anything
You ask Him in My Name.

My command to you:
Love one another.

BROTHER ETIENNE COOPER, C.S.C.

Died: March 21, 1990

(BROTHER ETIENNE was a member of the Eastern Province. In September, 1989, he began his retirement residence at Columba Hall. Along with his personal items, he brought with him several looms on which he was producing art works. The following are excerpts from an eulogy given by BROTHER MARK KNIGHTLY, EB, at the wake service.)

BROTHER ETIENNE COOPER died early Sunday morning, several hours after St. Patrick's Day — and what was Etienne for us but Irish? — Irish in feistiness, Irish in sentiment, Irish in the practice of his faith and Irish in his generosity.

And, just like his habit of confounding all categories, Irish Etienne Cooper loved the French culture most of all. His favorite city was Montreal; visiting there, in the final years of his life, he seemed to find the most beauty and meaning. He played the part well, too: a little elderly man wearing a jaunty tweed cap, carrying a satchel and cane, ordering cafe-au-lait and travelling on the bus to consult with tapestry weavers, making certain enough of his statues were still on sale in the Brother Andre Bookstore at the Oratory, saying his prayers.

As an artist, he was interested, especially in the topic of the Annunciation.

In the years that I lived with him, he must have begun 20 works on this theme, and cleaning the TV room I would find hundreds of small sketches and preparatory calculations on the ways to represent the Angel, and the stardust grace flowing from the realms of the Divine into the womb of Mary. Maybe this is one key to understanding Etienne: his fascination with Mary's fiat, her graced moment of yes which opened God's way to our earth, and our hearts. Such a peaceful vision then of a quaint, older brother who made statues and paintings and weavings of holy things. . . .

Etienne was a man of vibrant powerful feelings; I believe it was because he was the artist, was in dialogue with the subconscious more than the rest of us plodding creatures; our practical ways could drive him into a frenzy of frustration. . . .

Others among us could better speak of the Etienne of past times: Indianapolis, Rome, New York City, Bethlehem. In those decades I believe Etienne was faced with decisions of which no one would relieve him, decisions about art projects and lesson plans, yes, but also decisions about his own health in those more recent years of our acquaintance. Life and death decisions, some of them. It must have been frightening many times.

I remember that, after several heart attacks in the years from '77 to '80, doctors told him that the walls of his heart were paper thin. In telling me I'm not sure if he used these actual words, but the implication was that "Etch" could die at any time. At times he was very weak and needed a walker; once he was in the same nursing home as his mother, heavily medicated, possibly on his way out. . . . But Etienne had a fierce warrior in him, which was born in the depths of his weakest hour. . . .

It was in this last decade that I knew him best, and it is how I choose to remember him forever: a creative, vibrant character with a distinct flavor all his own. In the last ten years, he followed the work of his brothers and the doings of provinces with interest, but without giving up his critical independence.

He was amazing in our watercolor lessons, encouraging me to stomp on my paper before using it, since I had "too damn much fear of the stuff to paint on it." There was a lesson about life there. . . .

It took an entire truck to move him, with his hobbies from Rochester to Notre Dame this past summer. Cleaning out his workrooms, I discovered Etienne was no slave to order. You can be absolutely certain, if we could get quiet enough, we would hear him now asking the Holy One just how He plans to get the loom up there, and where among the many rooms of the Father's House, the plaster rooms for him will be laid out.

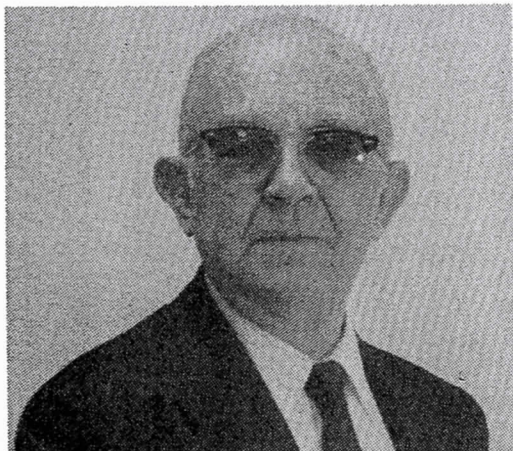

So, "Bravo!" Brother Etienne for your life-gift to so many. Farewell on your continuing journey then, fratello, Irishman who loved the French, supporter of culture and the fine arts. The fire of your spirit has transformed, in no small amount, my understanding of how to live this life.

Thank you for giving us all your talent, all your energy, and a piece of your mind whenever you felt we deserved it. Thank you very much for that.

A CSC Collaboration Apostolate: The Caribbean Island Of Dominica

Leadership in the Midwest Province and the Marianites have accepted an invitation from shop Boghaert, Bishop of Roseau, and Ms. Eugenia Charles, Prime Minister of the Commonwealth of Dominica, to assume the management of the government school in the Grand Bay area of Dominica.

Dominica is an island republic located approximately 4½ flight hours from Miami. The island is 35 square miles in size and has a population of 83,000. The majority of the people are Catholic. Agriculture is the main occupation of the people; the chief exports are bananas, mangoes, almonds, pineapples and coconuts. Roseau is the capital of the island.

The Grand Bay Area is located in the southwest part of Dominica. The people are very poor and depend almost exclusively on farming to earn a living. Currently the Grand Bay Area school (built by the Canadian Government) enrolls approximately 700 students from kindergarten through eighth grade. A complete 4-year high school program will be phased in by 1991. This would be a first for this area. Students are assigned to a particular school by the government, and the government is financially responsible for the school.

Holy Cross has been asked to share its acknowledged expertise in education with the people of the Grand Bay Area. Also, the presence of Holy Cross religious in the area will serve as a model of Christian community living for the people and as a catalyst for the long range social development of the whole region.

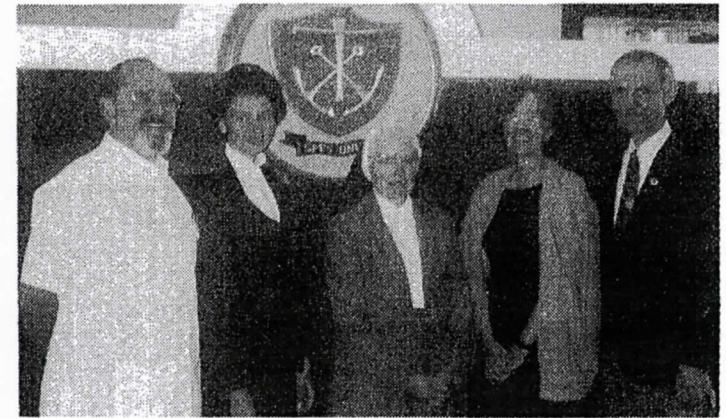

Our community is no stranger to Dominica. Father Lloyd Bechamb (EC) served the people of Dominica for eight years, and BROTHER JEROME KROETSCH (MW) was there for two years working at Woodford Hills. Also, presently the Irish Christian Brothers have religious at Saint Mary's Academy in Roseau.

The collaborative staff will include BROTHERS JEROME MEYER and THOMAS CHEURER, both who have been on the staff of Saint Edward High School, Lakewood, Ohio. Marianites joining the staff are Sisters Ann Louise Arno, Nell Murray and Juanita Wood. All of them spent this past year in the New Orleans area.

This new apostolate for Holy Cross follows the themes stressed in our Constitutions of working with the poor and collaborating between the Societies. BROTHER PAUL KELLY along with Marianites, Sisters Bertilla McNelly and Suellen Tennyson have for some time along with many others been involved to bring about such an effort. The mission which has been accepted should offer opportunities for fulfillment of the goal.

PRESIDENT BROTHER DAVID NAPLES announced a name change for Holy Cross Junior College. As of July 1, the school on the campus of the Brothers Center, Notre Dame, will be titled, Holy Cross College. It will remain a two-year institution and continue its current academic program. The school has grown-up after 25 years; the present enrollment exceeds 400.

Marketing to strengthen and enhance enrollment takes various forms. In Akron, Ohio, you are invited to check the billboards. Six of them colorfully promoted Archbishop Hoban High School. BROTHER JOSEPH FOX Director of BROTHER DONALD JOHNROE after passing his comprehensives in theology received a Masters of Arts in Theology from Barry University. Donald is in residence in Fort Lauderdale, Florida. Our Congratulations to him as he adds some new colored tassels to his collection.

BROTHER DONALD McINTYRE sends a colorful program of the Blessing and Mass of Dedication of the new St. Elizabeth Church, Pompano Beach, Florida. Donald is a member of the staff at the parish.

...pects for next year looking very promising.

Sponsored by Hoban Alumni Association

An endowed scholarship fund has been established at Archbishop Hoban High School in memory of deceased BROTHER RONALD EHRHARDT, who served there as Assistant Director of Development. The Midwest Province offered match donations up to $5,000 of any monies given to this fund.

BROTHER JOSEPH CHVALA observed a 100th birthday recently. No, not his own; this was his mother's, Josephine. The news release mentioned among the descendants, 17 great-great grandchildren (Joseph says it's more). One of the highlights was the appearance of her picture on the NBC, "Today show." Joseph is on the staff of Saint Edward High School, Lakewood, Ohio.

BROTHER PEDRO HAERING continues his work at WSND-FM and received special acknowledgement with the first annual Best Programmer Award. "May future recipients of this award display the same dedication, enthusiasm, and noble efforts you have thus far exemplified in the 1989-1990 academic year." (Station manager, Lisa M. McMahon)

Congratulations to BROTHER DONALD BECKER who has been selected to receive the 1990 Brotherhood Award in the category of Healer. The award was announced by Brother William Martyn, S.A., Vice President of the National Assembly of Religious Brothers. Presentation will be made at the NARB National Assembly Awards' Banquet this summer. Donald was nominated for the award by FATHER DAVID SCHLAVER, C.S.C., presently president/publisher of the Ave Maria Press. In the nomination letter David mentioned that Donald has spent his entire ministry in Bangladesh . . . lives a very simple life and spends his free time working directly with the poorest of the poor."

BROTHER RAPHAEL WILSON, SW, was one of several speakers who made presentations in a Lenten Series sponsored by Saint Mary's College. Notre Dame. Raphael gave a warm-up talk at Columba Hall to area Brothers. He pointed out, "the golden years can be an enriching time to clarify, deepen and find use for knowledge accumulated over a lifetime." Raphael besides being a full time student at Notre Dame in graduate theology, is active in issues relating to aging. We remember him as an educator and researcher.

Included in a recent issue of the Vista Section of the Ventura County Star-Free Press was an article, "Chaplain is joy behind bars." The article by Donna Dowling, S-FP staff writer, discusses the prison ministry of BROTHER JEROME SCHWABE. He is one of 24 detention ministry staff members of the Archdiocese of Los Angeles. The acting director is quoted in the article as saying of Jerome, "he's doing a tremendous job, not only him but his staff of volunteers."

A picture in TODAY'S CATHOLIC includes BROTHER JAMES LINSOTT, pastoral associate at Our Lady of Guadalupe Parish, Milford, Indiana. BISHOP JOHN M. D'ARCY, Diocese of Fort Wayne/South Bend met with those involved in Diocesan Hispanic Ministry. Other CSC pictured were FATHER THOMAS McNALLY, pastor of St. Stephen Parish, South Bend and Sister Maura Brannick, director of the Chapin Street Clinic of St. Joseph's Medical Center, and Sister Marianne Pajakowski, part time in Spanish ministry. BROTHER PAUL ROSONKE resides at St. Stephen and the hours he is not at Columba directing the plant maintenance helps with work at the parish.

Looking back: Cathedral High School, Indianapolis, Indiana. Included in a recent alumni publication, "Bits O' Cathedral History," the following items were included:

1946 — The student theatre production, "Arsenic and Old Lace," under the direction of BROTHER PAUL SCHWOYER, EB, (today: Notre Dame International School, Rome, Italy) was in rehearsal. Paul is also mentioned as the band director for the graduation ceremony. BROTHER MARIUS (today: Holy Cross High School, River Grove, Illinois) was congratulated as sponsor of a successful Mission Drive for the third consecutive year.

Also featured was an article about BROTHER ROY SMITH, '61. "I fully believed in Cathedral High School . . . What I saw from the Brothers was a personal and genuine concern for me as a person." Today Roy is a social worker, a marriage counselor, and he also works in two Catholic grade schools in South Bend.
