Columba Hall Renovation Awaits Finishing Touches

The new walls are up, the plumbing, electrical and painting complete. What remains is laying the carpeting, hanging the drapes, and adding fixtures to the bathrooms. All ten rooms should be ready for occupancy by the end of this week. The renovation project will make it possible for Columba Hall to provide added services to brothers who may need them. The project was made possible by the many donors who responded to the Brothers' last November Annual Appeal.

Final Touches Being Added to Dujarie House Renovation

The new walls have been built and plumbing installed in the bathrooms at Dujarie House. The old “West Wing” should be completed within a few weeks. This past week painters were busy refinishing the old walls as well as those that have been built. When complete, the “West Wing” will hold seven residents in three two-person rooms and a single room.

A new office for the nursing director and laundry room have also been built. The new nursing director will be in the area where the old shower room was located.
