Holy Trinity High School Raises Nearly $400,000 through Guardians of Hope Dinner at Soldier Field

Five hundred forty three business and community leaders, donors, board members, alumni, and staff gathered to celebrate and support Holy Trinity High School, a 102 year old Chicago Catholic high school, by attending its Guardians of Hope Dinner on March 9, 2012, at Soldier Field. The event raised nearly $400,000 for the school's student financial assistance fund, which supports 90% of Holy Trinity students.

Teaierra Curry, a junior in Holy Trinity's honors program, delivered the night's keynote address. She spoke of the school's life-changing impact - "Being a Holy Trinity High School student is one of the greatest things that has happened to me. I know that this school has been placed into my life because I needed to be here. Besides helping me to become a better student, Holy Trinity has helped me to become a better person. Because of Holy Trinity, I know that everything can change. The world is not a perfect place, but if enough people believe and act in the HT way, we can make it better. I am truly grateful to be attending such a great school and it would not have been possible without the help of the donors and sponsors of our school."

Timothy M. Bopp, the President of Holy Trinity High School, also praised the continuous support from Chicagoland business and community leaders. He said, "We are deeply grateful to all of our guests, supporters, and sponsors, whose generosity helps Holy Trinity to provide a rigorous education, build character and confidence, and establish high expectation. Because of the generosity of others, for 102 years and counting, we have been able to give Chicago's youth a better high school option and a brighter future."

This year, the Guardians of Hope Dinner also served as an opportunity to honor Wells Fargo, a long-standing partner of Holy Trinity.

In recognition of the bank's commitment to the mission of the school, Holy Trinity High School presented the Spes Unica Award to Jim Heinz, Executive Vice President & Head of US Corporate Banking. Through their support of the school's internship program, arts department, tutoring center, and student scholarships, they have become an essential part of the Holy Trinity community. For the past four years, Wells Fargo has hosted two interns each summer through the school's Friends for a Future Internship Program. Jerry Silva, a graduate of Holy Trinity's Class of 2011 and former Wells Fargo intern, served as emcee for the Dinner. Now a freshman at Western Illinois University, Jerry said, "Working at Wells Fargo taught me people skills, how to work with a team, and what it is like to work in a big corporate environment. The experience helped shape me into who I am today and I am very thankful for it."

Jim Heinz emphasized the impact that the internship program has on the students, saying, "We have found that these students are so mature, so ready to learn, and are so easy to incorporate into our day-to-day work flow and the payoff of giving them this opportunity is immense."

St. Edward High School's Official Authorization as an International Baccalaureate World School

Dear Parents, Alumni and Friends:

It's with great pride and excitement that we announce St. Edward High School's official authorization as an International Baccalaureate World School! We received the authorization letter from International Baccalaureate headquarters in Geneva, Switzerland on March 15.

The timing of the news is particularly exciting, as we entered the candidacy phase only 20 months ago (the typical IB World School authorization takes three years or more). Our early authorization speaks volumes about the quality of the faculty and programs that have already been in place at St. Edward for years. So much credit is due to our teachers who spent countless hours attending IB training, developing course work, and preparing our young men to meet the challenges presented by the world's most rigorous curriculum for secondary school students.

While the IB Programme is just one of the many options available to St. Edward students, the impact of our status as an IB World School will be felt by the entire community. Not only is St. Edward now part of a network of the most prestigious secondary schools in the world, but 43 members of our faculty have already participated in IB training and have been developing relationships with some of the best educators around the globe. As an IB World School, the possibilities available to every St. Edward student are limitless.

As we moved through this intensive authorization process during the past two years, the support we've received from the entire St. Edward community has been incredible. This is an important milestone in the school's history that we will all celebrate together. Click the links for the press release and fact sheet about our authorization so you may read more about this tremendous accomplishment.

We look forward to the 2012-13 school year, when our first IB students in the Class of 2014 officially enter the programme, and we eagerly anticipate sharing
