

TO MOTHER IN HEAVEN

Mother, it was you who gave me birth,
You who brought me to this earth.
You clothed me fed me, taught me my prayers.
I love you mother, for tending my cares.

When I went wrong, and needed correction,
You set me straight, without your rejection.
I remember, mother, those times did hurt,
But now I am glad, I'm now more alert.

When I was in school, you helped me to learn.
You were stern, but yet not too stern.
You taught me to always be neat.
In all you do, in good conscience, don't cheat.

In all my life, mother, you've given so much.
You gave me life, love and all things as such.
And now, mother, I know where you are,
In heaven, with Blessed Mary, our Morning Star.
