Our Poets, Past and Present

September Song

Brother Pedro Haering
has spent his life caring,
just as his patron Peter had done.
Hence both are sharing this September song which each has deservedly won.

Each knows what the cannibal who came late for dinner got—the cold shoulder.
(This made each wiser and bolder,
for knowing the plot helps a lot!)

To each of you I sing:
a lapidary are you of souls,
cutting and polishing these gems
to perfection,
thus earning God's grateful affection.

Holy Cross Roads Writings for the Journey

Guide Me, Lord

How often we rely on our intellect in our discovery of God. “God is the uncaused cause.” While it is important not to exclude our capacity to reason, there are other recourses in our discovery of the ways God wants to relate to us. God wants to communicate love to us. God does this when there is space in our life so God can break through the meandering thoughts of our mind.

It can happen through intuition when we feel an inner yearning for something more. “Is that all there is?” In silence we can experience an unexpected inner God-given peace and love. We call this contemplation. Through our outer senses we have access to God with a walk in nature, music or in works of art, in movement, in suffering, in death. God in Jesus speaks to us through a passage of Scripture or other readings. God in the spirit speaks to us in church through liturgy, adoration and formal prayer.

God wants to be all in all. It is through these many ways that God guides us on our journey. God becomes very crucial to us because God is present in whatever makes our life human and real. Scripture says, “Pray always.”

- What are some the ways in which you experience God?
- In these days how are you experiencing God?
- Are you open to accept the ways God speaks to others that are not your experience?

O God, help me to receive you into my heart in many ways.

We sing, dance, laugh, and honour our interconnectedness. Absolutely everything about who we are as Indigenous Peoples can be tracked to our first ancestors.

*There is a longing among all people and creatures
To have a sense of purpose and worth.
To satisfy that common longing in all of us
We must respect each other.*
